VISIT KRAKOW

One of the most important places to visit on your city break in Krakow is Auschwitz-Birkenau, the largest concentration camp in Nazi-occupied Europe during WWII. Pass the sign reading 'Arbeit Macht Frei' (work makes you free) to see unsettling scenes including barracks, ruined crematoria and gas chambers.

Visit a European industrial enterprise that has been in operation since the 13th century. If history piques your interest, Wieliczka Salt Mine should feature high on your list of places to visit in Krakow. Take the tourist route passing 20 pristine chapels, underground lakes and traces of historical mining operations.

Admire a collection of art and antiques fit for a king, in one of the most interesting places to visit in Krakow. On the left bank of the Vistula River, Wawel Castle reigns over the city from atop Wawel Hill – also home to the city's blue and gold ceilinged cathedral.

Make the most of your city break in Krakow by venturing a little further south. Hailed as the 'Winter Capital of Poland', Zakopane is situated in the Tatra Mountains. A haven for skiers and snowboarders, the resort has slopes to suit all abilities as well as exciting, annual ski-jumping contests.

If you're looking for a city break with the right blend of culture, nightlife and quaint surroundings, Krakow is hard to beat. While you can see traces of the city's WWII history, Poland's former royal capital is also a celebration of the present. Step onto Europe's largest medieval town square, explore regal Wawel Castle, and take it all in from a quiet café. Come evening, you'll have your pick of cabaret bars, theatres, clubs and restaurants
